

Army Refuses to Let Brazil V-Pres. Return

By TOM MASTERSON
RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Ranieri Mazzilli, temporary president of Brazil, told Congress today the nation's three military ministers have refused to permit Vice President Joao Goulart to return to Brazil.

Goulart, under the constitution, would succeed to the presidency left vacant by the resignation of President Janio Quadros last Friday, if he returned to Brazil.

Mazzilli's statement was issued at about the time Goulart was telling newsmen in Paris that he considered himself "the new president of Brazil" and that he thought a solution to Brazil's crisis was approaching. He said he would "act in the best interests of my country."

Mazzilli told Congress the ministers of war, navy and air force had "manifested an absolute opinion" that the return of Goulart would be bad for security reasons.

Led by Gen. Odilio Denys, the war minister, military leaders were reported steadfastly opposing any takeover of the government by Vice President Joao Goulart, the leftist who constitutionally has the right to succeed Quadros.

Goulart, en route from a visit to Hanoi and other countries, waited in Paris for word to fly home and assume the presidency.

Police and troops patrolled strategic points throughout the country, apparently determined to prevent any disorder. But there was little open display of force.

Censorship was imposed on outgoing news dispatches and on local newspapers and radio stations.

Labor unions in Rio de Janeiro and in Sao Paulo, the nation's second largest city, were reported to be in a state of alert.

Car Crashes Through Church to Pulpit Piano

Old Parking Meters Are Replaced

The City Street Department is replacing all of the old parking meters. The new meters are of the manually-operated type, some which have been in service down town during the past year.

The new meters also will bring about a new plan of downtown parking. All of the meters on Division Street and on the outer edge of the business district will be 1 1/2 hour meters. The meters will take only nickels, dimes and quarters but will give 1 1/2 hrs. parking for 5c, 3 hours for 10c and will register up to 9 hours parking time. All of these meters will be a bronze color.

In the central business district, the meters will work 12 minutes for 1c, 1 hour for 5c and 2 hours for 10c. This is the same schedule as provided by the old meters. All of these meters will be of a bronze color.

Located near the Post Office and at some of the places where businesses want short turnover will be meters that will register only 12 minutes for 1c. These meters will be red in color to distinguish them as short time locations.

It is hoped that the new parking plan will provide more convenience to the public. Persons intending to remain away from the car for a longer period of time can park on Division Street or around the edges of the business district and will not have to go back and check the meter. Offering something of a bargain in these outer edges of the business district should help relieve the downtown section of business days, and help provide parking space for people who are in a hurry.

2nd Wreck at Church at Washington

A second accident involving the Washington Church which was heavily damaged by an auto early Sunday, resulted last night.

An auto belonging to Johnny Griffin was driven by Mrs. Matt Bristow was parked off the highway across from the church where the occupants could see the damage.

A second auto driven by Frank Fellows and approaching the Griffin car veered across the highway and hit it head-on. A passenger in the Negro car, Floyd Walker, crashed through the windshield and suffered facial cuts. Nobody else was hurt. Both vehicles were heavily damaged.

Details of the accident which caused an unofficial $5,000 damage to the church are under the pictures on this page.

Sheriff Jimmie Griffin and State Policemen Ward and Pankey investigated. Fellows was fined $50 and cost two weeks ago in court at Washington on a drunk driving charge. In court this morning Municipal Judge W. K. Lemley fined Fellows $250 and costs and revoked his driver's license for one year.

Red Action Fine With Mr. Nehru

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru told Parliament today the searing off of East and West Berlin by the Communists "in strict law may be justified, but from every point of view it is a harmful thing."

"From the human point of view," Nehru said, "it causes tremendous misery."

He declared continued Western access to Berlin is essential and should continue as heretofore.

Obviously seeking to clarify a foreign policy pronouncement last Wednesday that roused a storm in the West by appearing to back the Soviet bloc, Nehru told parliament "a terrific barrier has been put up in Berlin — I hope that it is a temporary barrier."

Faubus Raps Memo by Sen. Fulbright

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he felt any American should be permitted to speak out against "our deadly and known enemy — communism."

Faubus made the remark when asked to expand on a speech Friday in which he criticized efforts to keep military leaders from participating in political affairs.

"It appears to me that a man in uniform should be able to speak against what he is expected to shoot against," Faubus said. "I see no indication that the military has any desire to participate in partisan politics."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D - Ark., recently sent a memo to the Defense Department in which he criticized participation by the military in political seminars. The Defense Department later ordered military officers to refrain from such activity.

Organizers Are Fined by Town

STAR CITY, Ark. (AP) — Jim Youngdahl, attorney for two union representatives fined for union activity here, said an appeal may be forthcoming. John Vickers of Helena and Gene Solon of Poplar Bluff, Mo., were fined $100 each in Justice of the Peace Court Saturday for violating a city ordinance prohibiting union organizational activity without a city license. The ordinance sets a $1,000 per day fee for the license.

Town Invaded by Riders Asks Injunction

By HOWARD D. CRISWELL JR.
MONROE, N.C. (AP) — The City Council planned to ask an injunction today against anti-segregation picketing by mixed Negro and white youths which set off a weekend of violence in this city of 10,000.

A policeman was wounded Sunday, a white couple was held hostage for several hours by Negroes, and the highway patrol said 20 shots were fired at a carload of white persons passing a Negro integrationist's house.

Sporadic fights downtown resulted in at least 35 arrests. Most were charged with inciting to riot.

Mayor Fred Wilson sent a telegram to U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy saying the city had been invaded by "Freedom Riders" and "carpet baggers." He asked that they be "restrained by your office."

The Justice Department said it has asked the FBI to learn the facts.

Negro and white pickets from as far away as England and Chicago have been carrying placards in downtown Monroe for several days. They handed out leaflets charging discrimination in city's recreation facilities, in hiring by local factories and saying welfare officials deprive Negroes of relief.

Sunday's melee started as the pickets were about to disband.

Police Chief A. A. Mauney said Mr. and Mrs. G. Bruce Stegal of nearby Marshallville were released unharmed Sunday night after being taken hostage. Mauney said his first word that they were held came in a telephone call from Robert Williams, Monroe Negro integration leader, who said the Stegals would be held until Negro pickets under arrest were freed.

Williams heads the county chapter of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People and is an outspoken admirer of Cuban Prime Minister Castro.

ICC Gets L&A Request to Drop 2 Trains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Louisiana Arkansas Railway today asked permission to discontinue two trains which provide daily service between Shreveport, La., and Hope, Ark.

The discontinuance would be effective Sept. 30.

In an application to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Louisiana Arkansas said the trains have been operating over the 110 mile line at a deficit and are causing "wasteful and unnecessary losses."

The Louisiana Arkansas is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Kansas City Southern Railway Co.

The trains involved are No. 3, which leaves Hope at 3:30 a.m., and arrives in Shreveport at 7 a.m., and No. 4 which leaves Shreveport at 5:10 p.m. and arrives in Hope at 8:10 p.m. There are 10 intermediate stops.

In its application, Louisiana Arkansas said:

"The drastic change in volume and method of transportation which has occurred in recent years and particularly the construction of hard surfaced improved highways and the vast increase in the number of private automobiles, bus lines and air lines has diverted so much passenger traffic from trains 3 and 4 that there is no longer any substantial need or demand for the service they provide."

Mrs. Peters and three others were injured.

Ronnie Loomis, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Loomis of Fort Smith, was killed Sunday when struck by a car as he rode his bicycle on a Fort Smith street.

Wreck Kills 4, Injured 4

DRIVER, Ark. (AP)—A grinding head-on collision on Highway 61 near this Mississippi County town Sunday left four persons dead and four others injured, one critically.

The dead were identified by state police as Aubrey E. Turner, 41, Jackson, Miss., real estate man; Mrs. Turner, 40; their daughter, Elena, 15, and Otto Woods, 79, of Portageville, Mo.

The young girl died early today in a Memphis hospital.

In critical condition was Mrs. Hulda Lambert, 70, of Albion, Ill. Mrs. May Woods, 78, Woods wife, and their daughter, Mrs. Bernadine Peters, 36, also of Portageville, were listed in fair condition at Memphis. James Lambert, 69, was treated but not hospitalized.

The Lamberts and Woodses were passengers in a car driven by Mrs. Peters. State Trooper Raymond Bishop said the Peters car and the other car, driven by Turner, hit head-on when Turner apparently crossed the highway center line.

Hearing for Man for Wife Shooting

MARIANNA, Ark. (AP)—Preliminary hearing is scheduled in Municipal Court today for Kenneth Anderson, 27, charged with first degree murder in the shooting of his estranged wife, Sheriff Courtney Langston said Anderson surrendered Saturday following the slaying of Mrs. Nadine Rose Anderson, about 23.

Democratic Club Figure Dies

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Mrs. Carson E. Hefner, 71, of Little Rock prominent in Arkansas Democratic women's circles died in a hospital here Saturday. She was named Arkansas Democratic Woman of the Year several years ago, had been a delegate to three Democratic national conventions and at the time of her death was counselor for the Arkansas Democratic Women's Clubs.

59th Division Is Back Home

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Most members of the Army Reserve's 59th Division are back home today, their two-week summer encampment at nearby Fort Chaffee completed. The division—composed of units from Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana—broke camp Sunday for the trip home. The 379th Regiment, an Arkansas unit, was recognized as the division's outstanding training unit.

School Forces to Make Play for $2 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—This may be the week school forces make their big play before the state legislature for $2 million to boost teacher salaries.

Sen. Roy W. Milum of Harrison said Saturday he would introduce a series of measures to divide surplus state funds which would leave enough money to "give the teachers almost all of the $2 million that was promised them in the regular (1961) session."

It might be just the springboard the school block needs to get back into the running for a share of the surplus money to use for increasing pay of the state's public school teachers.

The $2 million would have been provided under the 1961 spending program invalidated when the Arkansas Supreme Court held the omnibus act unconstitutional and the voters turned down a proposed $80 million bond plan.

It was this combination that forced Gov. Orval E. Faubus to summon the legislature into special session to make new financial arrangements for agencies which would have benefited from the thrown out spending plan.

The Legislative Council in pre-session hearings, came up with recommendations for a $20.2 million program. Most of it for construction. No provision for the teacher pay boost was made.

Two bills to allocate the teacher money have been introduced thus far in the special session, but they may not be permitted to come before the lawmakers for action since the special session call did not include the matter.

Milum said his spending proposals, which he said he plans to introduce this week in the form of separate bills, would provide for dividing $18.4 million instead of the $20.2 recommended by the council.

Included in the total would be $850,000 for the Arkansas Children's Colony at Conway, which was left out of the council recommendations.

The Joint Budget Committee has recommended $400,000 for the colony but bills now pending in the legislature would allocate between $1.3 million and $1.4 million to the facility.

Milum would trim some recommended appropriations and make no provision at all for some other agencies and activities—the Blind School; Negro Blind and Deaf School; State Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Booneville; municipal aid; state parks; county, district and state fairs; a new vocational trade school, and the Geological and Conservation Commission's planning division.

Milum said his program "would furnish as much building as could be done in the rest of this biennium."

As for the future, he said, "We could create a construction fund and thereafter furnish the various institutions with their needs. In this case, there would be no need of a bond issue or even certificates of indebtedness from one department to another."

Another matter likely for a lot more discussion before the session ends is a 1958 report by professional educational consultants.

The document, called the "Cornell Report," recommended certain construction at the state's institutions of higher learning, but only about half as much as the colleges asked from the regular 1961 legislature.

Sen. Roy Riales of Mena demanded to see the report Friday and intimated the college were reluctant about having the report's findings to be made known.

The report said, among other things, the need of most of the state-supported colleges "is to shore up undergraduate programs rather than to expand into extended programs." It said a building program is needed more to renovate existing facilities to bring them up to standard than because of student increase.

Then there is that controversial matter of an overall board of control for the University of Arkansas.

Orphan on Trial for Slaying Two

MARION, Ark. (AP)—A 15-year-old orphan who once said he wanted to die in the electric chair went on trial for his life today for the slaying of two younger boys last Sept. 9.

Selection of a jury to try Gurvis Basil (Buddy) Nichols of West Memphis moved slowly.

Four men had been seated in the jury box at the midday recess of Crittenden Circuit Court. Nichols told police after he was arrested that he shot Douglas Naylor, 9, and James Wallace Melton, 11, at West Memphis so he would be put to death himself.

"If I just killed one they might send me back to the reform school," he said, "but if I killed them both they'll have to send me to the chair."

Prosecutor A. S. (Todd) Harrison indicated he would seek the death penalty. Some prospective jurors were excused because they said they had scruples against a death sentence.

The defense entered a formal plea of innocent.

The young defendant was outwardly calm.

The first four jurors seated were Tate Floyd, retired Turrell merchant; Kirby Leggett, West Memphis filling station operator; Dan Marotti, Crawfordville farmer; and John Greer, Earle farmer.

First large-scale commercial production of ice cream was at Baltimore, Md., in 1851.

and the seven state colleges. Bills to set up such a board were introduced last week by Little River Rep. Marion Crank and Sen. Tom Allen of Brinkley. Still another bill was introduced by Bradley Rep. Bill Wells, but it would set up a board with considerable less authority than the one Crank and Allen propose.

Some lawmakers have indicated the colleges will have a hard time getting any appropriations until a bill to set up a control board is passed.

Atty. Gen. Frank Holt ruled that it would take a three-fourths majority to pass any appropriation bill, meaning it would take only nine senators or 26 representatives to block action on any money bill.

Lawmakers who favor a so-called "Super board" for the colleges believe they could muster that many votes.

Redistrict Compromise Reported

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Rep. Raymond Mays says a compromise has been reached on Arkansas congressional redistricting and the matter will be settled in a special legislative session to follow the present special session on finance.

An at-large congressional race would thus be avoided.

Mays, who authored the controversial 1961 redistricting act, said the compromise would put Jefferson and Lincoln counties into the new 4th or south Arkansas District and Arkansas County into the new 2nd or central Arkansas District.

Rumblings of dissent were still reported in Arkansas County, whose legislators said previously their constituents wanted in the southern district.

All three counties were placed in the 1st (northeast) District by Act 5 of 1961. The counties sponsored a petition campaign and got the act referred to popular vote. This tied up the redistricting plan and could force an at-large congressional race next year.

Such a race would be avoided if the compromise holds and the legislature passes a new redistricting act.

Mays released copies of the bill he said he would introduce at a special session. Gov. Orval E. Faubus had promised a special session on redistricting as soon as the current special session ends if a compromise was made.

Mays' new bill lines up the counties just as did Act 5, with the three exceptions.

Reps. E. C. Gathings and J. W. Trimble are without incumbent opponents under the new plan.

Reps. Dale Alfors of Little Rock and Wilbur Mills of Kensett would be together in the 2nd District and Reps. Oren Harris of El Dorado and Catherine Norrell of Monticello would share the new 4th District.

One of the chief products of Aitkin, Minn., is wild rice.

4 Youths Spend Night on Lake

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—An unplanned overnight outing by four teen-agers came to an end Saturday when they returned to their homes on Lake Conway. Jackie Justice, 15; his sister Peggy, 12; Patricia Lunsford, 14, and her brother, Lee, 12, were on a boat trip of the lake Friday night, and became lost in the darkness. They put ashore and spent the night even as searchers combed the lake for them. With the return of light Saturday they located their boat and returned home.

If you're too busy to get any fun out of life, you're just too busy.

and city, declared a general strike in support of Goulart, but so far little interruption in business has materialized. Labor leaders at the coffee port of Santos announced plans to walk out tonight.

Marshal Henrique Teixeira Lott, former war minister, five army colonels and a major were detained by military authorities. Another major was being sought. Marshal Lott, Goulart's running mate who was defeated for president by Quadros at the last national election, was picked up at his apartment after issuing an explosive statement in which he declared Gen. Denys planned Goulart's arrest if he returned to Brazil. Lott called on the people to abide by the constitution. The five army colonels and a major were picked up at Lott's place.

Brazil, a sprawling giant of 67 million people, was thrown into turmoil suddenly Friday when Quadros resigned after seven months in office. He declared he had been overwhelmed by opponents, Brazilian and foreign, of his strict economic and independent foreign policies.

His foreign policies had included talks on restoring foreign relations with the Soviet Union and refusal to take sides against Fidel Castro of Cuba. Officials promptly suspended negotiations on restoring relations with Moscow when Quadros resigned. Military and civilian political leaders were still conferring at the capital of Brasilia this morning in an effort to resolve the controversy over the possible rise of 42-year-old Goulart to power.

Moscow Radio charged that the unpredictable Quadros was forced to quit because of the "crude intervention by the United States in Brazil's affairs." Robert Woodward, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Latin American affairs, termed the Soviet charge absurd and said: "Our relations with the Quadros administration have been very friendly and cooperative."

War Minister Gen. Odilio Denys, army strongman and a staunch anti-Communist, showed challenging doubts about allowing Goulart, 42, to assume the presidency he inherited with Quadros' resignation.

Goulart Sunday night reportedly sent word to Denys: "I am returning to Brazil to fulfill my duty. You fulfill yours." The message was conveyed through Brazil's ambassador to the United Nations, Francisco Santiago Dante, who talked by phone with the vice president in Paris.

Goulart himself kept in seclusion but an aide said that the vice president "will insist on his constitutional right" to succeed Quadros and wants to get back to Brazil as quickly as possible. But a member of his party said Goulart probably would wait in Paris to confer with members of Congress expected only there to discuss the situation.

Goulart, much farther to the left politically than the unpredictable Quadros, is a bitter critic of American capitalism and a strong advocate of closer Brazilian trade and diplomatic ties with the Communist bloc.

The Labor party chief, who won re-election as vice president last year with Communist support, faces opposition from a faction of moderates in Congress and the traditionally anti-Communist military.

Denys, 69, with 48 years in active army service, has emerged as the key man in the maneuvering.

Mrs. J. S. Gibson has returned from a four-week tour of Canada and the eastern U.S. The tour went as far as Nova Scotia, Canada, and upon its return to Arkansas the travelers had dinner at the Governors' Mansion as guests of Mrs. Orval Faubus, a member of the touring group.

Michelle and Grady Core of De Queen are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Williams.

Christy's mad at Linda now, Thinks that Sally's "neat." Scott and Tom have had a row, Scott's gone off with Pete.

Karen might call Mary Lee Or Amy, "it depends." Mom's adjusting constantly To the current friends.

G. G. Medders

HOPE'S CITY MANAGER, Garland G. Medders, is currently attending the 38th annual American Municipal Association meeting in Seattle, Wash. Theme of the meet is Intergovernmental Relations. The Association, designed to promote the role of municipal government, has 13,000 members.

Auto Firms Pressured by the Union

By A. F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP) — Armed with a profit-sharing settlement at American Motors and with strike authorization, the United Auto Workers Union applied home-stretch pressure today on General Motors, Ford and Chrysler for new contracts.

Unless something gives by Thursday midnight, when current three-year contracts run out, UAW President Walter P. Reuther says there will be a strike against one of the Big Three. Workers have rolled up overwhelming majorities to back up ing over whether Goulart should be sworn in as chief of state.

"The army, navy and air force are united in watching over the nation's general tranquility," Denys said in one of his few statements since the crisis broke Friday.

Ranieri Mazzilli, the moderate speaker of the Chamber of Deputies who is serving as acting president, declared in the capital of Brasilia Sunday night the crisis is being overcome and predicted "within a brief period all will be normal."

Mazzilli said all was calm in South America's sprawling giant of 67 million people. But the government imposed censorship on newspapers and outgoing stations and seized two radio stations for broadcasts favorable to Goulart.

Former War Minister Henrique Teixeira Lott was arrested after making public an appeal to Denys on behalf of Goulart. Lott had told newsmen he had been informed Denys intended to arrest the vice president the minute he landed in Brazil. Lott said he "tried to persuade him from performing such a violent act, but I was unsuccessful."

Lott was beaten for the presidency by Quadros in the 1960 election. Goulart was his running mate and won under the Brazilian voting system that allows ticket splitting.

demands with walkouts, if necessary.

Reuther said there still is time for agreement "if there is good will on both sides." He pointed out the AMC-UAW pact was put together between Tuesday and Saturday.

Reuther says the new American Motors agreement "ought to lay the basis for economic settlement" with other automakers, but if any of the Big Three knows a better way "to answer pressing human needs" he's willing to follow that route.

The Big Three have said they have no intention of following a profit sharing path. They insist production workers have shared in industry progress over the years through wage increases that have brought the average wage to $2.00 hourly and added fringe benefits worth 35 to 40 cents hourly. They have offered wage raising packages that the union has rejected.

UAW Vice President Norman Matthews raised a strike threat Sunday against Chrysler, a money-lender in this year's first half. He said he would ask the UAW's International Executive Board Tuesday for authority to call a Chrysler walkout at midnight Thursday if no agreement is reached by that time.

Directors of the union's GM and Ford departments previously had said they would do the same. A grant of strike authority, however, does not necessarily mean that it will be used.

Under the new three-year American Motors agreement production workers get 10 per cent of profits, after the first 10 per cent is set aside for stockholders. Workers also will get a five per cent bonus in AMC stock, half pay for any hours fewer than 40 worked in a short workweek, high supplemental unemployment benefits and increased pensions.

Additionally, a seven-cent annual productivity pay increase is carried forward. So is the cost-of-living formula that carries wages up or down with the government's consumer price index.

against any violation of the free city status of West Berlin." The Communist paper added, however, that the Red regime would demand "guarantees for the undisturbed peaceful life of our (East German) citizens, guarantees that West Berlin won't be turned into a center of subversion against the peaceful construction of socialism in our republic."

The Western Allies have always refused to negotiate with the East German government, contending that it was imposed illegally by the Soviets and is kept in power by the Red army.

The United States, Britain and France also contend that their rights in Berlin and their routes of access to the city were obtained by conquest in the war and can be subjects of negotiations only with the Soviet Union.

The East German Communists charged a group of West Berlin youths crossed the East German border Sunday night and were driven back by warning shots and water cannon. West Berlin police said a patrol cruiser in the area heard several shots but they could not confirm the border crossing.

East German police also turned a water thrower on a crowd of some 800 jeering West Berlin youths milling close to the concrete wall thrown up by the Reds between West and East Berlin. The crowd retaliated with rocks and U.S. troops and West Berlin police finally drove the crowd back.

The two isolated skirmishes were the only incidents reported on an otherwise quiet Sunday.

American, British and French troops patrolled the barrier, with the big guns of U.S. tanks pointing across the wall.

But Communist armor, moved up two weeks ago, was withdrawn from sight of the border. East German border guards and police on patrol in the heart of the city were armed only with pistols. In the suburban areas Communist guards patrolled the fences with rifles.

DOROTHY DIX

Out of the Frying Pan Into the Fire

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: You gave me good advice before, so I am again knocking on your door. I married two years ago at 16 to get away from a Roman arena of a home. Five months later my husband joined the Air Force.

Not loving him, I decided to go on with my own life. But Mom and Dad said I couldn't date unless I divorced. My lawyer advised against this, calling me stupid for not sitting back and drawing allotment checks for the next four years. That I'm now doing but I still live in the home I married to get away from.

A 22-year old boy has proposed but I hate to make another mistake for he's too nice to hurt. Never having finished high school I'm not equipped to earn a living. My girl friend found a job in a nearby city and thinks I might do the same. But my parents won't let me go.

Isn't a girl legally on her own at 18? I love my father and mother. They are good to me but their quarrelling drives me nuts. —C.

Dear C.: With the acceptance of allotment money from your husband goes the moral obligation to play fair. His wishes should come first. Though legally on your own at 18, you are still adolescent in your thinking unless you appreciate that marriage vows are made to be kept, not broken. Profit by experience. Leaping from the frying pan into the fire is no solution to your problem. Life is give, as well as take. Set your feuding parents an example by mending the fences of your own marriage.

Your husband is doing his duty by his country. Do your duty by him. Give him the assurance that there is somebody who really cares. Do the same for your parents. Stick by them and, while at home, complete your schooling. Be qualified to hold down a first rate job. Heraclitus, the Greek philosopher, wrote more than 2000 years ago that "Man's character is his fate." Strengthen your character by meeting, not dodging, the issues which face you. Dear Helen: I'm the black sheep of the family. Ever since I tangled with the law last year my mother says I am a disgrace to her. She calls me names. The one I hate most is "Ugly." When she talks this way I feel like killing her. I can't leave home because I'm too young but can't stay with my own mother going on like this. What shall I do? —Unwanted.

Dear Unwanted: See the judge who handled your case. Explain what you are up against and ask him to talk to your mother. Finally, contact your parole officer or the social worker who wrote your probation report. Make it clear to the authorities that your mother, by harping on the past, will inevitably drive you back into the life you're striving to rise above. Show them this column.

Dear Helen: My boy friend's mother reads my letters to him. Is that fair? —L. J.

Dear L. J.: It is not only unfair but against the law for anyone to read letters intended for another —without the recipient's permission.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Hasty Marriage."

The Question Is: Just How Tough Is JFK

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — After seven months in office there is still a major unknown about President Kennedy: Just how tough is he?

Headaches piled up on him after he became president, forcing him to look and operate in 10 different directions at once. But this is how he's been:

1. With Congress—Mild and not tough-talking at all, although three of his most important programs were slaughtered.

Question: Is this how he'll deal with Congress the next three years?

2. In foreign affairs—Generally restrained but tough-talking with the Soviets when they pushed him into it on Berlin. There's a difference between tough talk and tough action.

Question: How tough will he be in a showdown? Judging from the way the Soviets have been probing and testing him, they want to know the answer to.

At home two things may have been a psychological handicap to him, giving him the feeling he didn't have a so-called mandate to get rough with Congress:

1. The narrow margin by which he squeaked through in the 1960 election.

2. While his Democrats outnumbered Republicans 65-35 in the Senate and 263-174 in the House, the margin is thinner than it looks.

Any time the Southern Democrats in either house get mad at him, they can team up with Republicans to frustrate him.

This fear of angering the Southerners—may explain why he failed to make good on his campaign promise to hand Congress civil rights bills very early in 1961.

To get what he wanted from Congress he has used reason, persuasion and White House pressure. He has aides who specialize in working on Congress.

So he has operated with Congress strictly as a politician dealing with politicians. Congress responded by putting through for him a number of programs he asked for. In large measure they were noncontroversial.

But on the highly controversial ones—like medical care for the aged, foreign aid, federal aid to education—he got sunk.

The medical care bill seems completely dead for this year. Any aid to education he gets will be a drastically watered-off version of what he said he wanted. Almost certainly any foreign bill finally passed will provide much less than he said is needed.

If Kennedy operates the next three years as he did in his first one—particularly in not carrying his case to the people—the record probably will not be impressive.

All this raises an old question: Should a president, not backed up by overwhelming majorities in Congress, try to play it soft and compromise or should he assert a vigorous, tough, outspoken leadership to get what he wants in full?

Kennedy got off to a bad start in foreign affairs by approving the anti-Castro invasion, by Cuban exiles, which fell flat on its face. The invasion was poorly thought out, was unsupported and never should have been permitted unless the United States meant business all the way.

This embarrassed Kennedy, and may have shaken his self-confidence a bit, undoubtedly made him cautious about any other direct action he might want to take anywhere. But he accepted full responsibility for the decision.

He knew he faced a showdown on Berlin, of some kind. Premier Khrushchev threatened that before Kennedy was even a presidential candidate. Khrushchev became increasingly belligerent, began pushing his luck.

Under the circumstances—since direct action might have meant war—Kennedy did the best he could: He talked tough to Khrushchev and about Berlin.

So far this hasn't discouraged

Studios Grow Tense as New Season Hits

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Radio-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — As the beginning of television's 1961-62 season draws closer, visitors can feel the atmosphere in the studios growing more tense. It's not excitement or anticipation, it's more like an epidemic of nervous fear.

The fall and winter TV schedules are loaded with so-called "action" shows planned and often written before violence became a dirty word in Washington and in the offices of network top brass. But although you heard rumors of drastic revisions of story lines and re-shooting of sequences to erase mass slaughters, almost nobody will admit making changes.

According to a pretty authoritative report—it trickled to me from an employee of one network who knows somebody who works for another network who knows somebody who works in the show—the opening show of one very popular Western had a script that was revised five times.

The original story called for six killings, a stomping and a lingering, agonized death from a gunshot wound in the abdomen. By the third rewrite the mortality rate had been chopped to three, the stomping remained but the lingering death had been cut mercilessly short. By the fifth, there was one death—off-camera.

Two brave men, both producers admit the existence of anti-violence pressures.

Hubbell Robinson, executive producer of NBC's new "87th Precinct," now wishes he had written out one scene of the opening show. It involves an attack with a broken bottle and some judo by a police officer. The scene is there because they wanted to show the reaction of a wife the first time she sees her husband not as an indulgent and affectionate man but as a cop on duty.

"I don't think it quite came off," confessed Robinson. "It was very effective in Ed McBain's book because he could describe what the wife was thinking. But it was impossible to get this effect on film, and I wish we had eliminated it."

Although few are talking about the down-hold on battles and killings, producers, directors and performers involved in action series are known to be unhappy about the watering down of the strong scripts.

Actress Gail Russell Is Found Dead

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Gail Russell, 36, who a year ago said "I'm an alcoholic" but declared she had put drinking behind her, died with an empty vodka bottle by her side.

The brunette beauty was found dead on the floor of her West Los Angeles apartment late Saturday night by two women neighbors.

There were other empty liquor bottles throughout her four-room $130-a-month quarters.

Police said Miss Russell's death apparently was from natural causes. They said she had been hospitalized in recent years with a serious liver ailment.

An 18 year old coed at Santa Monica High School, discovery by a Paramount talent scout, election by exhibitors and critics in 1947 as "Star of Tomorrow," stardom in pictures like "Lady in the Dark" and "Our Hearts were Young and Gay," four years' marriage to star Guy Madison—these were some of her life's highlights.

The low points were a series of drunken driving arrests in the 1950s. In 1957 she lost her driver's license when her new white convertible smashed through the front of a coffee shop and hurt a janitor.

The judge fined her $420 and put her on three years' probation. She vowed never to drink again.

Explaining a year ago how she had stopped drinking, Miss Russell said: "I'm an alcoholic. You don't get over alcoholism. You just don't drink."

Madison said in divorcing her in 1954 that she refused to have servants in the home and discouraged visitors.

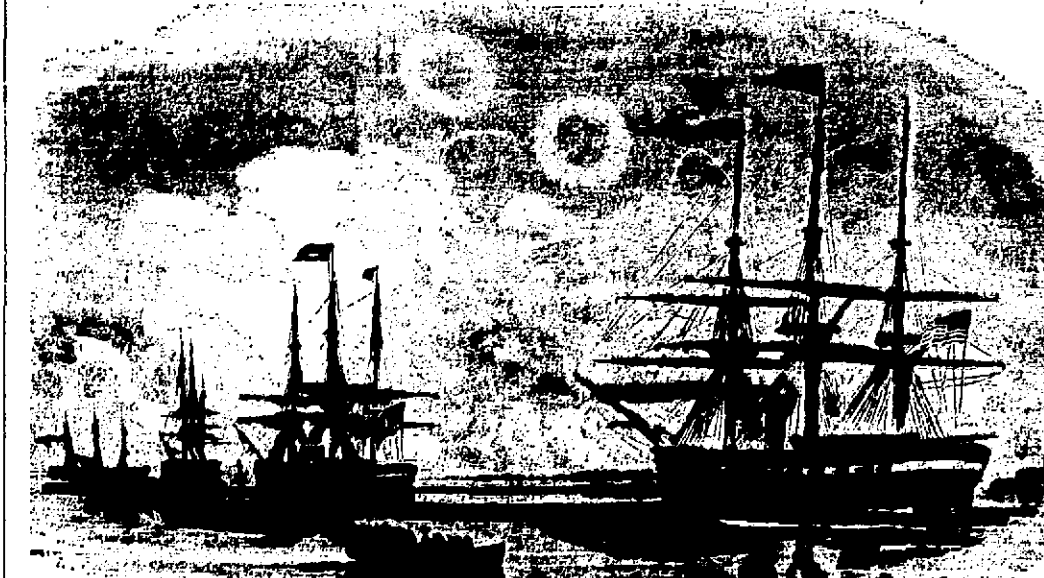

Divorcing actor John Wayne in 1953, Esperanza Wayne accused her husband of spending a night with Miss Russell after a studio party. Wayne heatedly denied it.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Excavation work has begun for an addition to Holcomb Hall, a girls dormitory at the University of Arkansas, even though final settlement has not been reached in a land condemnation suit involving the construction. The University filed the suit under a 1961 state law which gives colleges the right to condemn land for expansion.

CIVIL WAR ALBUM Union's First Naval Striking Force

TO CUT THE CONFEDERACY off from the sea and provide facilities for Federal ships blockading the South Atlantic coast, the Union directed its first naval striking force against Forts Clark and Hatteras, which had been built to defend the Hatteras Inlet to the North Carolina sounds. The move was planned by a board of four experts which had studied the Confederacy's coasts and harbors at the request of the Federal Naval Dept. The inlet had come to the board's attention as a suitable initial striking point because the sounds provided a base for Confederate privateers attacking Northern shipping. So a Federal fleet of seven warships with 158 guns, two transports holding 900 troops, and a steam tug entered the inlet on Aug. 27, 1861. The fleet towed iron surfboats to land the troops under the command of Maj. Gen. Ben Butler in an amphibious operation. On Aug. 28, the fleet attacked and some 300 troops were landed. A steady stream of shells drove the Confederate garrison at Fort Clark to Fort Hatteras. The Union troops took possession of the evacuated fort. Meanwhile, several hundred Confederate reinforcements were added to the already overcrowded Fort Hatteras. The show-down came at that fort. On Aug. 29, the Federal fleet resumed its barrage and easily maneuvered away from the few shots fired from the fort in a one-sided battle. When a shell penetrated some supposedly bomb-proof protection, endangering the ammunition magazine, the Confederates ran up the white flag. Two Confederates were found dead and 13 were wounded among the 715 taken prisoner. The Union suffered only one casualty.

MORE DARN TOURISTS BY STEVE KRAZEE

THE STORY: Plans for Indian ceremonial dances to attract tourists to Wond'ful are progressing. All that is needed now are Indians. And summer jobs for them.

Chapter VII

In the motel area along Highway 50, Finnegan was having his troubles. Operation: Rustling Jobs for Redmen was not going well. At five motels he had been turned down in a friendly manner. He had been insulted at the Caravanerie Conquistador, Three Pines, Snowy Peaks, and Linda Vista, all owned by chamber members.

Finnegan headed for the Mountainer Motel, operated by Ben Tarrant, a transplanted Texan whose hobby was collecting wagon wheels.

At the moment, Tarrant and his good wife were discussing that very subject. "Tarrant," said Mrs. Tarrant, "you've got to quit running all over the state during our busy season."

"That's the best time to locate wheels, Fanny. They're getting scarce, I tell you."

"Around the country, yes," Mrs. Tarrant looked out on Driveway's lined with wheels, on the swimming pool surrounded by them, on trees almost choked by wheels. She sighed. "If they were painted white, at least—"

"Painted?" her husband howled. "Then just stack them in a pile and burn them."

"One more crack like that and I'll send you back to Texas, woman," Tarrant frowned when he saw one of Hank Sutliff's white trucks turning in the driveway. "Hey, what's the plumber coming here for?"

"An automatic washer-dryer," e' "You've got one in the basement!"

"Have I, Tarrant? The last time I saw it was six weeks ago, when you first started to pile wagon wheels down there. If you think I'm going to crawl like a side-winder through the spokes of 152 wagon wheels, dragging a laundry hamper behind me—"

Mrs. Tarrant opened the back door to allow one washer-dryer, one master plumber, and two journeymen to enter.

"I see you've got a few wheels around, Mr. Tarrant," Sutliff said jocularly.

"I happen to like wheels," Tarrant said, with dignity.

When Finnegan arrived, Tarrant was standing near the swimming pool admiring an extra-large wheel with a five-inch tire. "Hi, boy," he greeted Finnegan. "Ain't she a beauty?"

Finnegan whistled his admiration. "You've heard about our plans for Indian dances?"

"Sure. How you coming with Mrs. Snoddy?"

"We'll get the park. I came out to see if you could use an Indian here this summer."

"Hmm," said Tarrant, "that felly is looser than I thought." He gave the wheel a shake. It started to topple into the pool and Finnegan jumped to give assistance. After a hard struggle during which Finnegan's necktie became entangled in a loose spoke, they got the wheel upright again on its rock base.

"Thanks," Tarrant said with real feeling. "If she'd gone over, something would have busted for sure."

Mainly my neck, Finnegan thought, giving a light tug on the necktie. It was firmly caught.

"A real live Indian?" Tarrant asked.

"Why, sure," Finnegan tried again. The tie was once around the spoke, with the end flipped up into the loose fitting of spoke and felly, only it wasn't loose now; the tie made a fine bushing. To keep from getting cross-eyed, he had to look over the top of the wheel.

The three sun-bathers thought he was staring at them. "I'm stuck," Tarrant was looking at the forest of wheels along one driveway.

"Yeah, I imagine it is sort of hard to find jobs for Indians."

Finnegan tried again to pull loose. The wheel moved; and he grabbed it to keep it from toppling on him. "Hey, I'm stuck!"

"I'll help you out. I'll take one," Tarrant said.

"One what?" Finnegan asked. No matter how he tried, he couldn't turn his face away from the women.

"One Indian," Tarrant said. For the first time he saw Finnegan's

Tarrant cut the tie with a pocket knife, and Finnegan recoiled back. "Get yourself a new one and charge it to me, Finnegan."

"Forget it. It was an old one." Last week's vintage. Seven bucks.

"Yeah," said Tarrant, "give me a real Indian-looking one."

"Sure. What have you got in mind for him?"

Tarrant laughed. "I don't know." He tugged at the part of the tie caught in the wheel. "That gives me an idea. I could pack cloth like that in some of my loose spokes. Got a few wolly wheels in the bunch. On the whole, not bad though, considering the number."

"I can't think of anything more effective," Finnegan retreated to his car and got in.

Redlegs Have Largest Lead Back Again

BY JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's league-leading Reds have their 3½-game bulge back today thanks to some stout relief pitching, timely pinch hitting and sound managing.

All three factors stood out like the Empire State Building Sunday as the Reds toppled second-place Los Angeles twice 6-5 and 8-3 to foil thoroughly the Dodgers' bid to take over first place.

Bill Henry, Jim Brosnan and Jim O'Toole hurled hitless ball in a combined 2-1-3 innings of perfect relief in the first game as the Reds surged back from a 5-1 deficit with three runs in the seventh and two in the eighth innings. Henry and Brosnan came back to pitch scoreless relief in the second game after the Dodgers had knocked out starter Ken Johnson.

A double by pinch hitter Wally Post drove in the winning run in the eighth inning of the opener, after the Reds had tied the score on an error and a triple by Leo Cardenas. This followed a three-run homer by Gene Freese off Stan Williams in the seventh inning to narrow the Dodgers' lead 5-4.

Pinch hitters came through for the Reds in the second game, too, as manager Hutchinson continued to make the right moves. Frank Robinson, who didn't start, batted for Jerry Lynch in the seventh and slammed a run-scoring triple. He scored a moment later when pinch-hitter Dick Gernert doubled. St. Louis shut out San Francisco 6-0 dropping the third-place Giants 6½ games off the pace. Milwaukee split with Philadelphia, winning the first game 11-10 in 12 innings and suffering a 3-0 shutout at the hands of Art Mahaffey in the second. Pittsburgh and Chicago also divided a pair. The Pirates won the first game 7-3 and the Cubs took the second 6-5.

In the American, Detroit took two from Washington 7-4 and 10-1 to move to within two games of the New York Yankees who edged Kansas City 8-7. Chicago swept a doubleheader from Cleveland 10-6 and 9-3. Baltimore shut out Minnesota 3-0 and Los Angeles defeated Boston 8-3.

Larry Jackson blanked the Giants with three hits for his eighth straight victory. It also was the Cards' seventh straight and 12th in a row at home. Ken Boyer helped the Cards gain the season's series from the Giants, 13 to 9 with a three-run homer. It was his 20th.

Mahaffey limited the Braves to six hits as he posted his second straight shutout following 10 straight reversals. Tony Gonzalez drove in two runs with a home run and sacrifice fly. A 12th inning double by catcher Sammy White, his first extra base hit as a National Leaguer, drove in Frank Thomas with the winning Milwaukee run in the opener.

Jim Brewer, young Chicago left-hander, won his first major league game as Richie Ashburn paced the Cubs with three hits against the Pirates.

Arkansans Win Again at Wichita

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Harry Taylor stopped Wichita on six hits Saturday night as Osceola won its third game of the National non-pro baseball tournament here, 5-3.

Taylor needed relief help from Bobby Jayroe in the ninth, when Wichita scored one run.

Catcher Nick Avants homered in the second inning to spark a four-hit rally in which Osceola scored three runs.

Men, more than women are inclined to stay in a hospital longer than necessary. For better or worse.

HOME RUN CONSCIOUS—Roger Maris inspects the Babe Ruth monument in center field at Yankee Stadium. The New York outfielder is far in front of Ruth's home run pace of 1927, when the immortal Bambino hit 60. The Babe spurred late for record.

Wonder Why Fuss Over H. R. Twins

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit's fans were wondering today why all the fuss over Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle.

They contend they have a slugging pair just as devastating as the New York Yankees' M and M boys.

"We call 'em the C and C boys," said a happy Tiger follower. "That's for Norm Cash and Rocky Colavito."

There's no question that Cash and Colavito have been just as essential to the Tigers as Maris and Mantle have been to the Yankees. The pair collaborated Sunday to lead the Tigers to a 7-4, 10-1 sweep of a doubleheader with Washington, moving the Tigers to within two games of the American League-leading Yankees.

Detroit gained half a game on the Yankees who nipped Kansas City 7-6 for Whitey Ford's 22nd triumph. Maris and Mantle went homerless and hitless. Colavito smashed four home runs, three in the second game, and batted in seven runs. Cash got three hits, including a double and triple to boost his league-leading average to .365.

Chicago's White Sox strengthened their hold on fourth place, defeating Cleveland twice 10-6 and 9-3. Baltimore's third-place Orioles blanked Minnesota 3-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Milt Pappas, and Los Angeles downed Boston 8-3.

In the National League, Cincinnati widened its first-place lead over Los Angeles to 3½ games, sweeping a pair from the Dodgers 6-5 and 8-3. St. Louis shut out San Francisco 6-0 to sweep the three-game series. Philadelphia shut out Milwaukee 3-0 after the Braves had won the first game 11-10 in 12 innings. Pittsburgh and Chicago also split. The Pirates won the first game 7-3 and the Cubs took the second 6-5.

Yogi Berra and Elston Howard supplied the home run punch for the Yankees. Berra's came with two on and Ford needed all those runs. The left-hander lasted just five innings and needed relief help from Roland Sheldon and Luis Arroyo. The A's scored three runs in the ninth and had the tying run on second base before Arroyo fanned Norm Siebern to end the game.

The White Sox used two big innings, one in each game to tomahawk the Indians twice. Floyd Robinson capped a six-run sixth in the first game with a bases-clearing triple. Al Smith and Roy Sievers homered in the nightcap in which the Sox had a four-run seventh.

Pappas not only pitched a two-hit shutout for the Orioles but rapped two home runs off Pedro Ramos, who has thrown 35 home run balls this season.

Little Rocky Bridges rapped three hits and Eli Grba permitted only nine hits as the Angels took undisputed possession of seventh place by handing the Red Sox their 18th loss in the last 20 road games. Don Schwall, Boston's rookie sensation, lost his third. He has won 13.

Chattanooga, engaged in a spirited scrap with the Birmingham Barons for the Southern Association pennant, would appreciate a little help from Atlanta and Macon.

These two teams must slow the Barons or Chattanooga can win right up through Labor Day and still be a runnerup. The Lookouts ran their winning streak to four games Sunday by shading Shreveport 2-1, but they didn't gain an inch on the front running Barons, who made it three in a row over Atlanta 4-2.

Chattanooga has won four of its past five games, but over the same span Birmingham has played equally torrid baseball and still leads by two games.

Birmingham moves to Atlanta tonight for five games in four days with the skidding Crackers. The Barons end the season at home against Macon. Chattanooga is at home to third-place Little Rock and winds up next weekend at Shreveport.

Macon, battling to overtake Atlanta, beat Mobile 3-0 for its fifth consecutive victory over the Bears. Nashville trimmed Little Rock 6-4 with heroics by center-fielder Buddy Gilbert playing a major role in the triumph.

Howie Kopitz posted his 22nd victory for Birmingham and held Atlanta hitless until there were two out in the fifth inning. His four-hitter improved his season chart to 22-3.

WHAT A LIFE—Drinking milk from a doll's nursing bottle is a lot better than scrounging for nuts for "Scamper," a pet of the Albert Weldum family of Rock, Mich. Found as a baby in a sawmill, apparently an orphan, the little rod squirrel is growing fast. But he's still small enough to recline comfortably in Mrs. Weldum's hand as he feeds himself.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Twenty-nine games and seven jamborees are scheduled Friday night as the 1961 Arkansas high school football season has its earliest opening in years.

Most of the state's 150 - odd schools competing in football won't see action until Sept. 8.

No conference games are scheduled this week in the Big Nine Conference or Class AA, but a few are carded for the lower classifications.

The only Big Nine School seeing action this week is Texarkana, which goes to Crosslet for what is becoming an annual opening-night affair.

Several of the top Class AA schools roll into action early. Jonesboro of 2AA takes on Walnut Ridge and Jacksonville of 3AA goes against Sylvan Hills.

Springdale, a 1AA power, goes against Huntsville, Mariana plays West Memphis of 2AA, Malbavac of 3AA takes on Bauxite, Morrilton of 3AA meets Searcy and Malvern of 4AA goes against Arkadelphia Saturday.

The jamborees, in which several teams take turns playing each other in quarters, are scheduled at Newport, Camden, Bald Knob, Trumann, Osceola, Carlisle and Junction City.

Golfer Says He Whistled Too Soon

By JOE MOOSHIL Associated Press Sports Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jay Hebert, admitting he started whistling to soon, won the $50,000 American Golf Classic Sunday by defeating Gary Player on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff.

Hebert, the Louisianan playing out of Miami, Fla., did it the hard way in gaining first prize of $9,000. He held a five-stroke lead over Player with nine holes left, blew it and then sank a 20-foot putt on the 18th hole to force a playoff.

Two holes later he scored a birdie four on the 500-yard par 5 No. 2 hole to defeat Player, who took second prize of $1,600 to boost his earnings this year to over $60,000, tops among the pros.

"I was whistling when we teed off on the 10th," said Hebert, "but when I double bogied the 11th, I knew I had started whistling too soon."

Player began to apply the pressure and by the time they reached the 625-yard par 5 16th, Hebert was only two strokes ahead. Player birdied the hole and took the lead as Hebert ran into another double bogey.

Both parred the 17th and on the 18th Player missed a 35-footer by inches. Hebert went up to his ball and dropped a 20-footer to bring on the playoff.

Two holes later, Hebert, winner of the 1960 PGA championship over this same 7,165-yard Firestone course, clinched the victory.

Bothe Player and Hebert were astonished at the behavior of the gallery.

"I played badly the first nine because I was hurt," said Player. "When I missed a five-foot putt on the third hole, the spectators cheered. Then I missed a four-footer on the fourth and some of the people laughed. I was heart-broken."

"I'm glad to have people pulling for me," Hebert said, "but we never want to see anything like that."

Hebert and Player turned the classic into a two-man tournament. Don Fairfield to Casey, Ill., finished third despite a record 65 Saturday. He had a 38-36-74 in the final round for a 200 par total.

Hebert, shooting 35-30-73, and Player with 39-33-72, had two-under par 278s.

Porkers Will Start Drills on Friday

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Of what will Arkansas' 72 Razorbacks be thinking when they report for fall drills Friday?

Of the Southwest Conference championship they'll try to defend? Probably not.

They'll put every ounce of brainpower and muscle toward the Sept. 23 season opener with hated Mississippi.

After Mississippi comes the season.

The Ole Miss game is the toughest opener the Hogs have ever faced. Added to the traditional rivalry between the teams is last year's controversial 10-7 Rebel victory.

The game, in Jackson, will be televised nationally.

The Rebels are among the toughest teams Arkansas will see all year. Quarterback Jake Gibbs and 17 other seniors are gone, but Coach Johnny Vaught has groomed Doug Elmore for the quarterback spot and the Rebs again are big.

Arkansas is bigger than in recent years, but Coach Frank Broyles says the Hogs are not as quick, especially
